

Planting Diary 7

By Jack

Sunday morning, the mint from last week is booming now.

A lots of brands grow up and I need to cut it a little bit to make sure the nutrition only absorb by the main root. Is it goanna make more small leaf grow up, then I will get mints every week haha?

It is thriving now and I can use it to make a fresh tea for my wife. Maybe it will help me keep healthy and slim. Now it is getting cold and I feel more easier to grow indoor compare to summer. O2 light doesn't take too much space on the table. It fresh my room with oxygen and make me feel like i am study outside. The reading and growing LED function is amazing. With the adjustable arm that can adjust up to 90 degrees. It totally changes my reading environment. I would buy it as a Christmas gift for my friend and bring the health to family too.